Frequently Asked Questions

Who is OptumRx?

OptumRx, a leading pharmacy benefit manager, will administer your pharmacy benefits starting August 1, 2015. In addition to processing your prescription claims, OptumRx can also answer questions and keep you informed about programs your plan offers to benefit your health and potentially save you money.

What is a formulary?

A formulary is a list of medications covered by your plan. Your plan prefers you to use formulary medications.

Will my plan still cover medications I'm already taking?

Most medications on your plan's current formulary will continue to be on the formulary with OptumRx. Starting August 1, you can access your plan's OptumRx formulary and other resources at optumrx.com.

Will I receive new ID cards?

Yes. New ID cards will be mailed along with your welcome booklet. Look for the mailing in June. Please put your new ID cards in a safe place to start using them as of August 1.

Where should I go to find out how much my medications will cost in the future?

OptumRx will be able to provide specific prices starting August 1. To get approximate pricing before then, call your plan's current pharmacy benefit manager through July 31.

Is my current retail pharmacy in the OptumRx network?

The OptumRx network includes thousands of independent and chain retail pharmacies nationwide, so your current pharmacy is probably in the network. Beginning August 1, you can find participating pharmacies once you register at optumrx.com.

Will I have to do anything different to fill prescriptions with pharmacies in the OptumRx network?

Starting August 1, simply present your new ID card containing OptumRx information to the pharmacy when you order a prescription. Your pharmacy will submit your claim for coverage by your plan.

Will I still be encouraged to use home delivery for maintenance medications as of August 1, 2015?

Yes, but OptumRx will be your plan's new home delivery pharmacy starting August 1. Through July 31, you can order refills from your plan's current home delivery pharmacy.

What happens if I just sent a new prescription to my current home delivery pharmacy? Or if I should have refills available after my plan moves to OptumRx?

Most of your current home delivery prescriptions will automatically transfer to OptumRx in August 2015 (except controlled substances and compound drugs[†]). Look for a mailing from OptumRx in August that will tell you how to access transferred refills.

How do I use OptumRx for home delivery of new prescriptions?

Ordering a new medication is easy with our website. Just sign in to optumrx.com. From there go to My Account then click on Manage My Mail Service to fill a new prescription through our easy-to-use online tools.
